Our extensive range of commercial construction services and unique expertise make us your smart choice for any project, large or small.

The Lasting Impression of Quality Work.

A first impression can last a lifetime. That's one of the many reasons we work diligently to ensure our finished product has the impact you want – on your customers and your business. We fully understand what it takes to get the job done with minimal disruption to your business ... and how imperative it is to keep the site clean while doing so.

We work tirelessly to make sure:

- Your customers enjoy “business as usual” if you choose to stay open while we remodel; and
- Your office or building not only looks incredible when the job is complete, but also makes that lasting impression you've always envisioned.

We have made it our life's work to know and understand your concerns as a commercial property owner or manager, as well as your need for experienced, professional support in remodeling and maintaining your property. Our quality workmanship, together with our competitive pricing, timely completion and unmatched customer service, has earned us a solid reputation worthy of referrals and a loyal client base. We also take pride in the long-term relationships we have established with city and county building departments.

Things Have Changed Since We Started Building in California. Our Commitment Hasn't.

From Westlake Village to Santa Barbara and all the areas in between, we are here to build ... and to stay. It is our belief that we can do that best by keeping an unwavering focus on you, our valued customer. At Al Lowe Construction, we stay in-tune with the architectural and design industry, and can work together to assist in developing your vision, while expertly managing your project.

To ensure your complete satisfaction:

- We work hand-in-hand with expert architects and designers
- We partner exclusively with the most qualified and customer-focused subcontracting companies
- We negotiate competitive contracts with experienced supply vendors

Because of these relationships, we can develop project budgets and mobilize a team to accomplish any project quickly, effectively and efficiently. We pride ourselves on safety and have celebrated over three years without a lost time claim. Additionally, we have been recognized by our peers and have received numerous prestigious industry awards. With Al Lowe Construction you have the assurance of immediate and accurate information, and the peace of mind you need, from start to finish.
